

← Boston & Maine Railway Corporation

Mike Robins ▶ Boston & Maine Railway Corporation

Yesterday at 8:46 AM •

Patches Croteau ▶ Abandoned Rails

January 29 at 10:47 AM •

Not my photo

William H Dexter January 28 at 9:11 PM •

#30 Winter in New England: Bedford Depot is a historic railroad depot in Bedford,

Massachusetts. A special part of the Depot Park project is former Boston & Maine Railroad Budd Rail Diesel Car #6211. This vintage combination passenger-baggage car was built in 1955 for the B&M. It has been out of service since the early 1980s.

Like

Comment

You, Dan O'Brien and 66 others

Stephen F Flanders

Wonder if this is the. Gentlemen that worked at to port terminal in. Porstmouth. N. H. Years back we went down to see him in regards to looking to get rail into. The terminal. William. Remington and my self and. Paul. Chapman talked with him he said if he could get rail in there to,or row he would be happy. But our effort failed as the. State didn!t want rail at that time.

on Sat Like Reply More

Steve Oloughlin

6211 has been completely restored. Quite a gem. Can be rented for private functions. (Probably not now during Covid)

3 hrs Like Reply More

Write a comment...

Post

Abandoned Rails.pdf

Saved to Dropbox • Jan 31, 2021 at 11:28 AM

Abandoned Rails

Patches Croteau ▶ Abandoned Rails

January 29 at 10:47 AM • 🌐

Not my photo

William H Dexter January 28 at 9:11 PM • 🌐

#30 Winter in New England: Bedford Depot is a historic railroad depot in Bedford, Massachusetts. A special part of the Depot Park project is former Boston & Maine Railroad Budd Rail Diesel Car #6211. This vintage combination passenger-baggage car was built in 1955 for the B&M. It has been out of service since the early 1980s.

Like

Share

You and 179 others

10 Shares

Ben Thompson

love those RDCs!  1

on Fri Like More

Bruce Cherner

There's a great little museum inside that RDC, which may or not now be open. Anyone stopped by lately to check?

on Fri Like More

Danny Carlson

Skip Carlson

on Fri Like More

Paul Luciano Jr

Photo or painting? Either way- nice!  1

on Fri Like More

Patches Croteau

Photo. He's a great photographer

on Fri Like More

Jim McBee

I have always loved those Budd RDCs. I would love to have one and a few hundred miles of track.

on Fri Like More

DG Molina III

Jim McBee you should go ride the reading and northern in Pennsylvania they run their Rdc's on a dinner train.

5 hrs Like More

Sean Crist

I've biked out to there many times.

on Sat Like More

Craig Della Penna

The group who restored the Buddliner and the old Freighthouse is Friends of Bedford Depot Park. <https://www.bedforddepot.org/> This is the best railfan group I've seen associated w a rail trail in the U.S. They been around over 25 years.

Friends of Bedford Depot Park

bedforddepot.org

22 hrs Like More

Photos from Neil Richardson's post in Boston...

Saved to Dropbox • Jan 31, 2021 at 11:52 AM

← Photos from Neil Richardson's pos...

Neil Richardson ► Boston & Maine Railway Corporation

RDC morning train for Boston at Bedford MA on April 10, 1963 (photo taken by me)

Photos from Neil Richardson's post in Boston & Maine Railway Corporation · Aug 13, 2018 ·

View Full Size · More Options

Like

Comment

You, Bill McCaffrey and 121 others

John Petillo

Passing the Bedford Depot, the Freight House is in the far background. -JP

2 yrs Like Reply More

Robert A Bradley Jr.

For the most part the track doesn't look like it changed that much over the last 20 years it was in service

2 yrs Like Reply More

Richard Harris Jr.

Thats cool

2 yrs Like Reply More

Robert A Bradley Jr.

I know the tracks to Concord and Billerica were abandoned a year prior to this picture. Were those tracks still in place at that time?

2 yrs Like Reply More

Peter Driscoll

Yes pretty much everything is there and to the right of the depot building is the Narrow Gauge up to the whatever it was the penitentiary or whatever it was called

2 yrs Like Reply More

Peter Driscoll

There's a RDC right there to this day. Many people including myself would drive by it all the time but I couldn't stop and take photos and examine but it's still there, it's great. You can see the ancient Narrow Gauge to the right across the street and there's a little cart and history info and everything else..

2 yrs Like Reply More

John Petillo

Here is a pic of the B&M Budd Car #6211, on static display at the Bedford Freight House. -JP

4

2 yrs Like Reply More

Steve Oloughlin replied · 1 reply

John Petillo

Here is a pic of the narrow gauge M o W cart. Its chained to the rails, so people can't roll it along the tracks, or try to steal it. -JP

2

2 yrs Like Reply More

John Petillo replied · 4 replies

John Petillo

Here is a pic of the interpretive statement plaque, next to the narrow gauge track. - JP

2 yrs Like Reply More

Dan O'Brien

The Freight House and the 6211 are open to the public on weekends.

2 yrs Like Reply More

Peter Driscoll replied · 1 reply

Peter Driscoll

Thank you everyone! You people are great this is always a wonderful learning experience. I posted a bunch of pictures when I was there recently about 3 months ago but they're not on my phone memory card chip thing cuz I'm away on a vacation.

2 yrs Like Reply More

Bill Sargent

I believe that is the place from which i mail ordered some maroon minuteman t shirts, in the past. still have the shirts, but they are getting a little tattered. Maybe time to order some more.

2 yrs Like Reply More

Tim Wright

Is this the bud that ran tbe lexington Rt  1

2 yrs Like Reply More

Steve LaBonte replied · 3 replies

Write a comment...

Post

